Design for Business

Invest NI has opportunities for design-led businesses who want to innovate and grow.

There's a magic that happens when a company's customer service delights instead of frustrates, when the technology you've bought works brilliantly or when a website gives you exactly the right information you need, exactly when you need it. In reality, these seemingly small moments are actually the result of careful design planning that result in valuable customer loyalty.

Design touches us all the time. As a process, its purpose is to bring together the needs of your customers and the capabilities within your business. But it's the focus on the customer that makes design such a powerful tool to stand out, develop market share, make connections and open up new markets.
